THE TIME IS NOW

“If not now, when?”

Those four words set the Recreational Aviation Foundation on our mission 13 years ago.

We believed then and we believe now that there is no better time than right now to make things happen; and, with those words in mind, the RAF set out to protect, preserve, & create recreational flying destinations. Along the way, we've marched to the beat of a little different drum, but always with a sense of urgency about the priorities on which we spend our time.

Time...it represents many things and cannot be replaced which is why we know we ask much as we express the hope that you will consider this your time to help further our mission. What we know for sure is that by wisely using the time so generously given by people like you, the RAF will continue to enjoy the success we celebrate at the end of another year.

Flip this page over to see where the RAF spent its time during the past year. I'll admit there are times when we wonder if we're spending time as wisely as we might, but I hope you agree that we've gotten a lot done by using time and resources strategically and carefully.

However, what's plain is that there is so much more to do.

We'll continue to team up with aviation organizations such as AOPA and local pilots associations. We'll work effectively with state & federal agencies, as well as private landowners. And, we'll fully engage the best team of talented people across the U.S. who volunteer their time on the RAF work.

Still, we need you. So, here is what I ask you to consider.

Can this be your time to help the RAF financially?

We get so much done with our great volunteers. And, many contribute financially. However, many benefit from the work of the RAF yet never know the joy of rolling up their sleeves and pitching in to help.

Simply put, if all of you would do two things there is so much more that the RAF could do. First, look at how you spend your time and resources and consider helping the RAF. Second, ask a friend who you know is benefiting from the work of the RAF to contribute as well.

As great as 2016 has been and as much as we have accomplished, all of us at the RAF know that 2017 can be even better with more to do and more to be proud of throughout the year.

We sincerely hope that you want to be a part of this future.
